Course Overview:

This course examines the political, economic, social and cultural development of the United States from the late 1800s to the present. It traces the changing ethnic composition of American society; the movement toward greater civil equality for minorities; and the emergence of the US as a major world power.

c. 1865-1900 Surveys conflicts between settlers, ranchers, miners, Native Americans, and others during the heyday of The Western Frontier. It also examines the rapid economic and urban development and widespread corruption of The Gilded Age in the years following the Civil War.

c. 1890-1920 Saw a push for widespread social, economic, and political reform at the turn of the 20th century through Progressivism. The US adopted a new role as a global power during the era of Imperialism and The First World War.

c. 1920-1941 Investigates the prosperity and social changes of the Roaring '20s which was followed by the catastrophic Great Depression and Franklin Delano Roosevelt's New Deal response.

c. 1941-1962 Examines the United States' role in the fight against Nazi Germany, Fascist Italy, and Imperial Japan during The Second World War followed by its global struggle against communist forces in the Soviet Union, Eastern Europe, China, and Korea during The Early Cold War. These years also witnessed major domestic economic growth and cultural changes in the postwar years.

c. 1950-1975 . Lyndon Johnson introduced a legislative program called The Great Society to guide the nation through the turbulent social transformation and political unrest of the 1960s and The Vietnam War Era.

c. 1968-1991 Explores American domestic and foreign challenges the United States faced during The Late Cold War and American Pop Culture of the 1960s-1990s.

c. 1991-Today The Culture Wars epitomize the political and social polarization between left-wing liberal Democrats and right-wing conservative Republicans. It also investigates the US response to 9/11 and neoconservative foreign military interventions during The War on Terror.

Rules and Expectations

1. Communicate with me! In an online learning environment, you must be willing to open up and share in order for us to build a good relationship. All I know about you is what you and your parents tell me.

2. In an online learning environment, your voluntary participation is essential to success! This means:

    a. logging into Google Classroom daily and following the latest directions in the classroom stream

    b. adhering to the semester schedule without falling behind or working ahead

    c. keeping up with readings, research, and projects; studying vocabulary; watching videos; and performing other asynchronous tasks on your own

    d. participating in daily live instruction including joining online discussion threads and collaborating with classmates in small group work

    e. reading everything thoroughly for detail!

    f. submitting work in the proper location; if asked to turn something into Google Classroom, don't send it through Remind or email. Don't make me hunt your work down.

3. Polite, civil behavior is expected! Practice good netiquette. This includes but is not limited to:

   a. Use respectful language in voice and text conversations. Profanity, racist, sexist, homophobic, and other offensive or judgmental comments will not be tolerated.

   b. Please mute your microphone when joining meetings, unless asked to do otherwise. You are not required to have your camera on, although I would appreciate it if you did. Our communication will be greatly improved if I can read your facial expressions!

   c. This is a school setting. Use formal academic English language when writing, including proper capitalization, punctuation, and spelling to ensure your message is communicated effectively. Avoid online slang and acronyms when typing messages.

   d. Answer messages within 24 hours or less. If it you will take longer to compose a reply, send a brief response to the sender to tell them that.

   e. DO NOT TYPE IN ALL CAPS! This is the online equivalent of screaming.

   f. Remember the human and don't hide behind a screen! If you would not make a potentially offensive comment to someone in person, don't share it digitally. The people reading your messages are real people with real feelings.

   g. Avoid toxic sarcasm. Without the tone-of-voice or facial expressions that accompany it in person, sarcastic statements in text are easy to misinterpret.

   h. Attempt to find your own answers before asking others.

   i. Share, but don't overshare. All WCPSS rules regarding inappropriate content apply to remote learning.

   j. Respect others' privacy. Don't forward sensitive emails or share private pictures or videos. Use BCC (blind carbon copy) on large group emails to hide recipients' addresses.

   k. Be mindful of posts you make public and be inclusive. If you have a joke or comment for one or a few individuals, send a private message.

   l. Fact-check before reposting! Before you share controversial information, verify it with Politfact, Snopes, FactCheck.org, OpenSecrets.org, or another fact-checking website.

6. Extra credit will not be offered.

WCPSS Honor Code Policy

Honor Code Policy (4310) states: "Academic honesty is essential to excellence in education and is directly related to the Board's educational objectives for students to promote integrity and self-discipline in students. As all schoolwork is a measure of student performance, academic honesty facilitates an accurate measurement of student learning.

Each student, parent, family and staff member has a responsibility to promote a culture that respects and fosters integrity and honesty. Academic integrity and honesty requires that all stakeholders share responsibility in the fulfillment of this policy.

In fulfilling these responsibilities:

- students will collaborate with their peers to foster a culture of academic integrity; refrain from participating, either directly or indirectly, in any form of cheating or plagiarism; and adhere to the honor code;
- parents and family will actively support the honor code by encouraging their child(ren) to foster and uphold a culture of academic integrity;
- staff will establish and annually teach expectations regarding academic integrity and honesty; and promote the honor code.

Prohibited Behaviors

1. Cheating: Cheating is an academic deception where a student intends in some way to receive or attempt to receive credit for work not originated by the student, to give or receive unauthorized assistance, or to give or receive an unfair advantage on any form of academic work.

2. Plagiarism: Plagiarism is using passages, materials, words, ideas, and/or thoughts of someone or something else and representing them as one's own original work without properly crediting the source.

3. Falsification or Deceit: Intentional acts of falsification or serious deceitful misconduct that threaten the health, safety, or welfare of others, or that cause a substantial detrimental impact on school operations or other individuals are prohibited.
